The ASR collects information from participating organizations about the nature of goods and services procured based on the UN Standard Products and Services Code®. In addition, the ASR uses sectors of procurement. Procurement sectors refer to groupings of goods and services that are aligned with areas of focus for the UN. Each sector includes goods and services categories from different UNSPSC segments and families.

The following dashboards show the major categories of procurement by UN organizations.

The UN system procures from thousands of suppliers every year. The dashboards below provide information on spend with suppliers through major contracts for goods and services.

The dashboards only show data for contracts with total value of $30,000 or more. Some lines will display values lower than this - in these cases they represent parts of larger contracts.

In the dashboards below, Procurement by category shows data at the highest category level (UNSPSC segment). Data on more detailed category levels is available on the Categories page.

Data is available from 2015 onward. For previous years, refer to the published reports from those respective years.

UN Procurement Statistics - from the Annual Statistical Report on United Nations Procurement

The United Nations procures goods and services from suppliers all over the world to support its activities and operations. Procurement statistics have been collected from organizations in the United Nations system and reported together since 1984, through the Annual Statistical Report on United Nations Procurement (ASR). This UN Procurement Data portal provides access to the latest procurement statistics through interactive data dashboards as well as the report itself.

In addition to providing data on procurement spend, this portal provides information on United Nations organizations' efforts to integrate sustainability considerations into their procurement processes, in the context of the United Nations' continued focus on sustainable development.

2018 report just released! Read the report or explore the data.
