UN Procurement Procedures
Guiding Principles for UN Procurement

Procurement activities of the UN system are based on the following:

- Best interests of the UN Organisation
- Best value for money
- Integrity, accountability, transparency
- Fairness, effective competition
Common General Terms & Conditions

- Cover both procurement of goods and contracting of services
- Most provisions are common within the UN system, but can be differences
- Potential suppliers are encouraged to familiarise themselves with the UN General Terms & Conditions

Other specific Terms and Conditions are part of the contract (e.g. deliverables, delivery timeline, payment schedules, TOR, etc.)
How is the procurement method decided?

- the value of the procurement
- the nature of the goods and services to be procured
- critical dates for delivery
Types of solicitation

Request for Quotation (RFQ) - less formal solicitation used for lower value procurement (< USD 40,000*)

Invitation to Bid (ITB) - formal solicitation method for well-defined goods (or services); contract award is based on lowest priced acceptable bid (> USD 40,000)

Request for Proposal (RFP) - formal solicitation, generally for services, whereby the contract award is based on a combined (weighted) evaluation of both the technical solution and price (> USD 40,000)

Pre-tender/market research:
Request for Expression of Interest (REOI), Request for Information (RFI), Pre-qualification

* Thresholds may vary
In summary

Up to 40,000 USD*

- Based on ITB or RFP process
